spent the lunch hour with Delaney

and the rest of his constant attendants

reading the newspapers and speculating as to the battle Friday night. He rounded out the day with very mild glove work at the Reliance

Club. He expects to take on an extra pound before entering the ring.

Fitzsimmons sparred in the afternoon with Griffin and Andy Galtier at the Olympic Club, and exhibited great speed and force. Experts in matters of opinion, however, has it that Fitz-simmons's are and the difference in age militates against him, and that

Jeffries is the logical winner.

The club managers are claiming that the sale of seats has almost reached the $20,000 mark. Sporting men are arriving here with every train, and several excursions are due to reach here

tomorrow and the day of the battle.

RING AND SECONDS.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

OAKLAND, July 23.—A slight defect

in the ring has been found, but it will be remedied before the fight. The heavy timbers which support the frame work above the ring were found to be rather too close to the ropes. If there was a struggle in any one of the four corners, there was a possibility of either the hands of the fighters or the ropes being injured. To avoid this ropes will be cut off one foot of each corner, making the ring octagonal, instead of square. The posts will be padded

as an extra precaution.

Soldier Tom Wilson, who came from the East to act as Fitzsimmons's sparring partner, but who was shelved

in favor of Hank Griffin, will not see the fight. He received orders to return to his regiment at Fort Monroe,

Va., by July 23, and he will leave on the overland train tonight.

Jeffries will be behind him in the ring Joe Kennedy, De Witt Van Court

and Delaney. Jeffries wants it understood that under the rules he can fight all the time. He does not want any little rules to handicap him.

Referee Graney announced tonight that he would not allow any of the contestants to commit a breach of the Marquis of Queensbury rules. He says

if one of the men is knocked down, the other must stand by him. He will not permit hugging or clinching,

nor will he permit a bottleholder to throw up a sponge. He says that either

Jeffries or Dawson, representatives of Delaney and Fitzsimmons, will have to stand in the center of the ring

and throw up the sponge if they so desire. Graney will wear a dress suit in the ring.

The wardens examined the structure

this afternoon, and passed it as being properly built, and safe to hold the thousands who intend going to the fight.

"Kid" Eagan won the toss for corners this afternoon, and chose that part of the ring facing Port and Valencia. Eagan considers this

Jeffries's lucky corner. Sam Thall, the stakeholder, tossed the coin, and Clark Ball chose heads and lost.

ST. THOMAS MAKES REPLY.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

ST. THOMAS, July 23.—Barrie

Barrie was today in the United States

Circuit Court. Barrie sued to revoke the $11,215. The case was set for trial on Friday, July 25, at 10 o'clock. Barrie's attorney, Mr. J. H.

Barrie, through his attorneys, denies the allegations of Barrie, and explains his relations as follows: Barrie was engaged as tea salesman for the Lipton branch house in this city.

Barrie's services in connection with the yacht races were to be performed

as incidental, and not as separate employment, and no extra compensation

was offered or asked for. Sir Thomas asks the court to dismiss the complaint.

GANS-TURNER FIGHT.

STOCKTONIAN IN READINESS.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

STOCKTON, July 23.—Rufus Turner

has finished training for his battle with Joe Gans tomorrow night at Oakland for the lightweight chamionship of the world. Turner is in superb form, and ready to give Gans

the best that is in him. He is doing very little work today, as he is two months away from the stipulated weight.

He will leave for San Francisco on the boat tonight, crossing over to Oakland tomorrow morning. While few people here really look for him to win, the Gans man is not going begging, as Turner's friends think that his luck and his punch make him a good short-end proposition.

GANS TROUBLED BY WEIGHT.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

OAKLAND, July 23.—Joe Gans, the colored lightweight champion, will have some difficulty in making the stipulated weight of 135 pounds. Yesterday, despite road and gymnasium work, he took on half a pound. Tomorrow morning he will do about ten miles on the road to reduce weight.

Otherwise he is in first-class condition.

Interest in the contest is not overshadowed by the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons bout. Gans will be a 10-to-6 favorite in the betting. Gans declares that he is out to win, and that there is no thought of a take.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES.

REDHOT PACE AND TROT.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

CLEVELAND (O.) July 23.—The

2:04 pace and the 2:07 trot furnished

sensational races for the record-

breaking crowd of 11,000 that attended the Grand Circuit races here today.

The unbeaten Dan Patch was almost a 1-to-5 favorite for the pace, and he won, but had to cut his record to 2:08.34, when chased out in the opening heat by Riley B. The performance did not tire the favorite in the least, and he took the deciding heat with ease.

The first heat of the 2:07 trot went to the Monk, who had sold for $50 to 10 on the field. Lord Derby was far back, and the judges decided that he was taken down and George Saunders was put up behind Lord Derby.

The drive down the stretch was terrific, and the Monk was nipped at the wire. Lord Derby trotted the last half in 1:09.4. A bad break put him out of the going in the deciding heat, and

the race went to the Monk, Dolly Dilling being unable to force him out. The judges fined Spear $250 and gave the money to the substituted driver. All bets on the race were declared off.

Summary:

The 2:12 class, trot, purse $250, three in five: Wauburn won the third,

fourth and fifth heat in 2:10.4, 2:12,

2:12.5. Hesperus won the first and second heat in 2:09.4, 2:11.

The 2:15 class, pace, purse $200,

three in five: Direct Hit won the first,

third and fourth heat in 2:08.5, 2:10,

2:10. Elder won the second heat in 2:09.5.

The 2:07 class, trotting, purse $200,

two in three: The Monk won the first, and third heat in 2:07.4, 2:10.4, Lord

Derby won the second heat in 2:07.5.

The 2:04 class, pacing, purse $150,

two in three: Dan Patch won two straight heats; time 2:03.4, 2:05.4.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Didn't Put Fire Out.
Horace Snodgrass and C. K. Shoop of Azusa, campers arrested some time ago for leaving their fire burning on the San Gabriel forest reserve, were examined before Commissioner Owen yesterday and held to answer under bond of $250 each.

Newsboys' Home Surprised.
The inmates of the Newsboys' Home were surprised last night by a visit from Henry N. Crowell and family of East Ninth street. The evening was spent with music and games, and ice cream and cake were provided by the visitors for the newsboys.

Bible Student Coming.
Dr. J. W. McGarry, one of the most noted Bible students in America, is coming to the Coast to spend several weeks. He will be at Santa Monica during the annual convention of the Christian churches of Santa Monica, and will give addresses daily. Dr. McGarry is the head of the Bible department in the Lexington College.

Cats and Hens.
Charles Freyburg of Tolosa donated to the Chamber of Commerce yesterday specimens of the variety of apocryphal cats and hens, some of which they will be preserved in glass jars. M. H. Mendelson of Ventura makes an exhibit of honey, and the Ventura chamber has sent down price apocrypha.

Nazarene Workers Return.
Dr. P. F. Brown, general superintendent of the Church of the Nazarenes, with Mrs. Brown and Mrs. E. F. Baldwin, returned yesterday from an evangelizing tour of Washington. They assisted in the work of the Washington State Nazarene campmeeting at Ellensburg, and afterward conducted services at Seattle and Spokane. At the latter place Mrs. Delancey Wallace was ordained an elder and installed in the pastorate of the church there.

Verdin Resigns.
Deputy Sheriff E. H. Verdin has tendered his resignation to Sheriff Hammel, to take effect August 1. The vacancy has been filled by the appointment of Peter Reed, an employee of the Los Angeles Traction Company and formerly a deputy sheriff. Verdin is a candidate for Street Superintendent, and will hereafter devote his time to the effort to secure the Republican nomination for that office.

Verdict of Accident.
An inquest was held by the Coroner yesterday on the body of H. C. Sanders, a lineman in the employ of the Edison Electric Company, who was killed Tuesday afternoon by an electric shock at Second and Pershing streets. A verdict of accidental death was rendered by the jury. A telegram was received yesterday from Mrs. B. B. Gillette of New Concord, Mo., ordering the body shipped there. Mrs. Gillette is the mother of the deceased.

Judge Bicknell's Illness.
Judge John D. Bicknell of the law firm of Bicknell, Gibson and Trask came near to death yesterday. Judge Bicknell has been in very poor health for some time owing to a chronic stomach trouble. Yesterday morning, after his breakfast, he had a sudden collapse, and it was feared that he would die. Three physicians and a trained nurse were called. Last night, it was stated at the home, that Judge Bicknell had rallied, and was resting easily and was in no apparent danger.

Jailed a Woman Bester.
Joseph Despart, a barber, was arrested last evening on a warrant charging him with battery. It was issued on the complaint of the woman with whom he has been living for several years and by whom he has had several children. During the recent quarrel he beat the woman most brutally, despite the fact that he is an unusually large man and she is very frail creature. Then he tried to prevent her securing the warrant, but she insisted upon prosecuting him.

New Church for Nazarenes.
After a long delay in securing the title to the lot, work will begin today on the excavation for the new First Church of the Nazarene, at the corner of Sixth and B streets. This building, when completed, will have the largest seating capacity of any church edifice in the city. While quite plain in its general appearance, it will combine many of the best ideas in modern church building. This church asks for no subscriptions, nor is there any solicitation or begging. The whole enterprise is carried forward by free-will offerings, and about $500 has been received during the past month.

Didn't Need to Steal.
Early yesterday morning Patrolman Zeigler saw a man run into an alley between Broadway and Hill streets on seventh and followed him. He caught the man and found that he was carrying a bundle of long iron bolts, the possession of which he could not explain. He was sent to the Police Station as a suspect and gave the name of John Stand. When searched $15.45 was found on his person. Later it was learned that the bolts had been stolen from the yards of the telephone company. Stand admitted the theft, and said he took the bolts to fix his wagon. He has been arrested before for petty larceny.

Victim of Many Accidents.
Alex Yearley, a fireman in the employ of the Long Beach trolley line, was seriously injured yesterday while unloading poles. A pile of the poles slipped from their fastenings and rolled against him, causing a compound fracture of the right arm, the bones protruding. Yearley was formerly employed in the city department of electricity, and there received severe injuries. Later he fell from a tree while in the service of the telephone company, and was seriously injured. Subsequently, he had another fall, which crippled him for months, and the accident yesterday is the fourth which will make it impossible for him to work for several weeks.

It's the last stroke that makes the horseshoe. The shoe was not a shoe till the last blow fell. Before that it was merely a semblance of a shoe, a bent piece of iron.
It's the last strokes that make a suit of clothes—the finishing touches, special cuts a good tailor gives to the fitting, the graceful hang, the freshness of the style and the little extra quality of the fabric. These are the things that make a Bräuer & Krohn suit worth double a ready-made suit.

Calcutta Bungalow Serpentine Seats $2 each

We are selling some genuine Calcutta Bungalow Seats at $2 each. These are not American imitations, but on the contrary, are the genuine products of India. No American would take time to weave these seats and build the frames for so little as $2. They come in genuine Indian designs, which are either plain colors or combinations of strong Oriental colors. The picture is an exact representation of one of these seats and the only difference between them is in color. They can be used without cushions. The top is made of Indian twine closely twisted and braided, or more properly speaking, woven in the frame. Most people like to have cushions to throw on top of them simply as an ornament and we are plentifully supplied with Oriental designs suitable for this purpose. These Bungalow Seats are ideal for summer homes and beach cottages. They are comfortable, lasting, ornamental, and take up very little room. Choose from the entire lot at $2.00 each.

SCHOOL FOR HOUSEWIVES BY MARION HARLAND

BITS OF PRACTICAL INFORMATION FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

66 NOTICE a request for recipe for boiled icing with milk. I can give the recipe and assure you that it is good and very easily prepared. I frequently make it."

The recipe will be found in column given to such formulas. The same helpful correspondent (a new member of the Exchange, whom we welcome heartily) continues:

"I also notice that in 'Housekeeper's Exchange,' the question is asked how to whiten a straw hat that has turned yellow. I think my method simpler than the one given, and I've used it satisfactorily many times. Take the band off. Mix lemon juice and flowers of sulphur to a paste. Brush this into your hat, with a small brush, into every crevice and cranny of the band, underside of brim included, and dry thoroughly, either over night or by hanging out in the sun. Brush it off with a dry brush and you will find your hat as white as snow."

If I may, I'll add another recipe, as I like to pass along anything helpful. Here it is—if you wish to renovate a black hat that is rusty—I mean a black broad-sword during it. Wash it over with a solution made by dissolving a little gum arabic in water, put it on an inverted cotton cloth in a warm oven till dry. You can also stiffen up artificial flowers that have become limp by moistening your fingers in the gum water and picking up the petals and foliage, brushing the face of the glossy leaves and the backs of others."

J. A. E. So many deft-fingered women renovate their own hats, and so many others would like to save milliner's bills, that I am grateful to "J. A. E." for her clear, practical instructions. This is a valuable item for the scrap book.

"Please give me a recipe for cleaning light straw hats, and as soon as possible. Mrs. J. W."

See preceding letter. It could be more timely.

How to Remove Pear Stains

"Please inform me how I can take a pear stain out of a light summer suit. M. H. P."

Pear stains are as ugly as they are obstinate, even worse than peach stains, and that is saying much. In your case the difficulty is magnified by the fact that it is a "light summer suit" which is stained. The spots could be extracted from white material with chlorinated soda, cyanide of potassium, buttermilk and salt, or any one of three or four other detergents. None of them are available where there is danger of extracting the color from the surrounding material. I should redden the stain very slightly, then rub in just enough quantity of potassium to cover the spot, and leave it on to dry. Do not put your finger in your mouth until you have washed it in hot water, as the powder is a deadly poison.

Trouble With Electric Fans

"Will you or any of your readers kindly tell me of any experience you may have had with electric fans?"

"I am very anxious to stay in town this summer, but my two rooms are so hot that it would hardly be safe to do so unless I can find some means of keeping them cool."

I have had no experience with electric fans, except as I have been kept comfortable by them in public halls and in other people's houses. But those who have had them in their rooms assure me that they are a priceless boon in "the heated term."

No doubt some correspondent can speak more intelligently and helpfully of them and their workings.

Care of Household Pets

"I have seen a number of prescriptions for the relief of cure of skin diseases on cats or dogs, but not one person has told how to prevent these diseases. I have raised many kittens and puppies, and when they are under six months old never allow them to taste raw meat and very little cooked. Milk and potatoes should constitute their food, with a bone, now and then, for pup to try his sharp little teeth upon, and then it must be cooked. After six months, they can have cooked meat once daily in small quantities. I give my handsome spaniel (whose black, glossy coat repays me for my care) beef-liver with, sometimes, fried mush. Some chop the meat up and mix it with corn meal mush. Let it boil and when cool, slice it. After a dog is four years old, do not give him bones to gnaw, for he is too old and his teeth cannot grind finely enough. I had a dog who seemed to have a skin disease that caused him to bite his back until it was raw; his hair came out, and nothing I applied did him any lasting good. As my husband is a druggist, I had free access to all sorts of remedies, but I changed his food from raw meat to cooked, gave a bone only at long intervals, and he has almost recovered. Raw meat will irritate the skin of any domestic animal. Some own dogs and cats, but they do not keep them. They feed them, if they happen to be around at meal time, with any scraps convenient. A domestic pet will show by his clean, healthy, sprightly appearance that he is not only owned, but kept by one who loves and cares for him. His appearance is an index to the character of his owner."

The correspondents who fill my mail bag with anxious queries respecting the care of their household pets—never alluded to by them as "brutes" or "beasts"—should pass a vote of thanks to this sensible woman for preaching hygienic measures rather than cure. If we are disposed to smile mischievously at the connection in which the circumstances of a druggist's wife is mentioned, we must bear in mind that she has, by virtue of this circumstance, the better right to claim a hearing. She has had exceptional opportunities for weighing the comparative values of prevention and remedy."

Annoyed by New Carpets

"I have a new wool carpet that I put down a short time ago, and I am much annoyed by a strong odor from it. At first I thought the straw under the carpet was musty or moldy, and took up the carpet to remove the straw, but now I think it is caused by the dye in the carpet. The colors are green and ochre. What can I do to remove the offensive odor?"

New carpets often give out an unpleasant smell for a few weeks. It arises from the grease in the wool, rather than from the dye used in coloring it. Air the room freely by night and by day, admitting the sunlight in the morning for some hours. If the smell is like rancid oil, set in the room at night a tub of water, or several pails, in which you have cut up four or five raw onions. You will probably find greasy globules upon the surface of the water in the morning. Do not worry over the annoyance. It will pass before long, and not return."

To Destroy Black Roaches

1. "Can you tell me whether or not there is any way of destroying black roaches? We have tried everything imaginable, but they do not seem to mind anything. We have a measure pit and they are all around the holes in the wall. They are all over the store and stable, and come out at night. In fact, they are all over the first floor and beginning to come on the second. We have a perfect horror from seeing these pests around the place. Every time I see them it chills me from head to foot. If you would kindly advise me what to do I would be very thankful to you."

2. "Would you please give a recipe for meat?"

3. "Would you kindly tell me if chewing gum is injurious to the teeth and does it injure the health?"

1. Mix into a paste equal quantities of red lead, molasses and Indian meal, and scatter freely around the holes and haunts of the marauders. Don't let children or chickens get at the paste, as it is poisonous. With a bellows, blow borax and red pepper over the places most infested. Scatter cucumber parings about freely. They are poisonous to roaches, yet they eat them.

2. The recipe for meat will be repeated in its appropriate place.

3. It wears the enamel of the teeth, spoils the shape of the mouth, and certainly does no good to the stomach.

"Will you kindly tell me what I can do to get rid of roaches, the very large black ones and the smaller kind?"

See advice just given.

THE SUMMER GIRL AT BAR HARBOR

MANNERS OF YOUNG PEOPLE, IT IS COMPLAINED BY A NOTED WOMAN AUTHOR, ARE ON THE DECLINE

NOT long ago "John Oliver Hobbes" complained in print of the decadence of young people's manners, and of the unceremoniousness, not to say slanginess, of their speech. It must be admitted that the indictment is not altogether unjust. No doubt every epoch sees its own defects most clearly, as being nearest at hand, and Mrs. Henry Wood some forty years ago criticized the girls of that period as boisterous and frivolous, and as comparing badly with those of a yet earlier time. Still, according to what one can learn from literature and tradition, it would seem that absence of polish and courtesy of address can hardly have been so general since Anglo-Saxon times as they are now.

Of course, there are still a goodly number of girls who do not talk slang, but the habit is growing, and the art of well-chosen speech declining, while Americans in particular have so slipped into common parlance that they almost seem a part of the language, and not slang at all. Of course, it would be impossible in days like these to practice the grace in vogue at the beginning of the nineteenth century, and for many centuries before that. Not that these are really hurrying days, as it is the fashion to call them; on the contrary, people who have not to earn their living seem to spend their time very much at their ease amuse themselves. But there certainly is a decided feeling against wasting any time in elaborateness of manner, in pretty compliment, or, indeed, in any form of politeness whatever.

Perhaps it is hardly to be desired that we should revert to the style of address prevalent in Sir Walter Scott's days, when it was fashionable to address any acquaintance who was not an intimate friend in the third person, as thus: "Am I to infer from Miss —'s last remark that she does me the honor to concur in my sentiments?" or, "May one who can offer no homage save that of gratitude take this opportunity of expressing his sense of the favor which Mrs. — so delicately confers?" Such flowers of speech would seem so ridiculous in our ears that whoever attempted them would be pronounced eccentric, if not insane. But there is a whole world of difference between these long sentences and the "The right, Mrs. —," or "Awfully kind, I'm sure, Mrs. —," which replace them nowadays; and of the two extremes, when one comes to think of it, that which erred on the side of politeness and respect really seems more suitable to gentle breeding. Fine speeches belonged to days when the stately and elegant minuet prevailed, and modern coarseness and slanginess harmonize rather with "Kitchen Landers" and the "Washington Post."

Grand manners yet linger among the old people of the higher classes, who have brought up to graceful and courtly speech and bearing, just as they were taught to write in a lovely Italian hand, to curtsy when introduced to strangers, and to show respect to their parents and other elders. Much may have been, and undoubtedly was, amiss in those times, but they had some advantages over the boisterous present, and of these fine manners were not the least. The curtsy in itself is a beautiful thing given up. Nowadays it is an obstacle reserved for an introduction to royal personages, and as the greater part of the nation spend their lives without being thus presented, the curtsy may be said to have fallen into general disuse. Yet it was a delightful set of "courtiness," as the name implies.

Women seem too jealous of their equality with everyone else to do more than give a slight nod. Men, too, seldom really bow. It is sufficient to raise the hat; the bow of old is hardly ever seen, except on the stage. Gentlemen are the natural guardians of good manners, and when they relaxed their own, gentlemen were sure to follow suit. But men were more thorough in their republicanism, for they left off all elegances of dress, and plain clothes and a plain bearing naturally go together; whereas women dress as finely as they ever dressed, and spend more than they ever spent, and certainly beautiful and costly furbelows ill accord with an abrupt address, awkward, aggressive walk, and rowdy dances.

Now, of course, it is not to be supposed that the old order of things will ever altogether return. The highly-polished speeches, which would make us impatient now; the well-turned compliments, which we should consider insincere; the regal minuet, only admired among us as a pretty show by skirt dancers; the carefully composed letter, written in the exquisite pointed hand—all these things are probably banished for ever.

But why should not Fashion turn in the direction of grace, when she often puts herself to the trouble of practicing some awkward novelty. For instance, she might revert to the courtly bow of courtesy, instead of inventing the absurdly angular handshake, with the elbow on a level with the shoulder, introduced a few years ago. The one movement is graceful, pleasing, and complimentary, the other extremely awkward and disconcerting. Then, again, speech, without becoming Grandisonian, might resume some amount of polish; but this cannot be unless children are brought up with a wish to please, and girls prevented from talking slang. The homage of gentlemen to ladies may never regain the worshipful character it had in the days when Waverley wooed Flora MacIvor, any more than a girl would now sit and sing by a mountain waterfall with a diamond clasp round her hair, like Flora herself; but there might be a returning recognition of the claims of civility, greater forthought on men's part for women's up-lings.

TENNESSEE NOW HAS A COLLEGE OF COURTSHIP

It is a mistake to suppose that kissing "comes natural."

As a matter of fact it is a fine art that needs to be studied with all the assiduity that a lawyer devotes to his Blackstone. He must be a specialist in the subject of kissing. He must have mastered every detail of the science of lovingmaking, and as proof of his proficiency he must be able to exhibit a diploma from a College of Courtship.

As yet there is only one of these colleges in existence. It has just been established at Atwood, Tennessee. The degree it will issue, will be expressed by D. L., which means Doctor of Love. The founder and president of this unique school is Professor T. J. Brooks.

The aim of the founder is to help all those whose amatory education has been neglected. He has surrounded himself with a corps of competent instructors and is all ready for the spring rush. Students in the College of Courtship will be taken through several degrees before they become doctors of love. The college course is to consist of four terms. There will be an elective course for the degree of Bachelor of Hearts, to consist of three terms, as well as a post-graduate course for the degree of Experienced Benedict.

In the freshman term the studies, which are mostly non-elective, will consist of recitations and lectures upon meteorology, language, tokens, diagnosis, driving with one hand—including the choice of a horse—botany, department, finance—as applied to candy, flowers and theatre tickets—the management of gas jets and the control of clocks.

During the second term the students will take up the art of salutation, style in letter writing, engagement rings, the management of younger brothers, the dangers of the tintype and the law of breach of promise. During this term, too, attention will be paid to general outdoor work,

CHILDREN'S WRONGS CALL FOR REDRESS AT THE STATE'S HAND

66 CAN YOU tell me if there is a short history of child labor published anywhere? That is a book I wish to read, and I am quite sure it is young. I remember reading one when I was young. It was written particularly for children but I do not know the author's name."

"If you know of such a book, would you kindly tell me the name of it and where I could buy it?"

"I know of nothing better than 'The Story of Child Labor,' by John Roder, in English 'housework.' It has no medical dictionary at hand. I am quite sure it is young. It was written particularly for children but I do not know the author's name."

RECIPES

STILL ANOTHER WAY OF MAKING GREEN TOMATO PIE

NOTICE in your department a request for "green tomato pie." I ate my first last summer and it was much like green currant pie. Slice the green tomatoes very thin—around, not lengthwise—and cook them exactly as in making green apple pie, using sugar and a little water—say two tablespoons to a pie. Bake in a fast hot oven by the time the pears are baked thoroughly it is delicious, if half baked 'till you get the pigs."

CANNED SECKEL PEARS

ARE carefully dropping each cold water into a pan of water. Have ready on the stove a pot of boiling water and sugar. Put the pears in and cook gently until you can pass a needle easily into the largest pear. Pack the hot pears into cans, leaving the syrup boiling on the fire. The pears are in, fill the cans to overflowing with the syrup and seal.

They have every single advantage that Hollywood has with the added advantages of being within the city limits, a five cent carfare, and only a short ride from the business center of the city and a few minutes walk of Los Angeles' most beautiful play ground, West Lake Park. In addition to the Traction cars the well known Belt Line Franchise covers the right of way on Vermont Ave. directly in front of this property. This line will soon be built either by the Pacific Railway Co. or the Traction Co. Both Companies are awaiting a decision of the courts before commencing operations. Many beautiful residences have already been erected in this section. Among them being those of Hon. John W. Mitchell, Mr. T. W. Brotherton and Mr. Barnes. We show a picture herewith of Mr. Barnes' residence right opposite our property. This property lies almost in an air line west of our office. TO GET LOVELY FACES.
THE COMPLEXION WITHIN THE REACH OF EVERY WOMAN WILLING TO WORK FOR IT.—GOOD-SKIN TREATMENT—FACE MASSAGE—HOW TO REMOVE BLACKHEADS.
BY CHRISTINE T. HERRICK
(Of New York.)
WHEN every woman wishes to have a good complexion, why will so few women take the trouble to get one?
As a matter of course there are some women who are so seriously afflicted by impurities of the blood or some other form of physical derangement that it is impossible for them to improve their skins by any simple method. They will have to submit themselves to the care of a competent physician before they can hope to be on the

of a good skin food. There are scores of these on the market that will do the average skin more harm than good, and there are also those that are pure and beneficial.
CLEANSING THE PORES.
The woman who is making the investigation should first of all wash her face clean with warm water and a soft cloth, using a little good, plain soap. Castile will answer the purpose. Having washed it and then dried it with another soft cloth, she may with the tips of her fingers rub into her face a little of the cold cream or skin food. She should massage it in thoroughly so that it penetrates the pores of the skin. When this is done she may take still another soft cloth—dry one—and with this wipe her face clean. It is then that she will have the promised surprise party. For in spite of all the careful washing, the cloth will show dirt that came from the clogged pores. This dirt was caused out by the softening influence of the cold cream or skin food.
No woman can expect her skin to do its duty and look day after day clean and clear if she does not remove the pores are choked with dirt. Remove this and you give the skin a chance to breathe. Keep the pores clear and you are on the way to have a good complexion.
But still this is not enough. The skin needs nutriment as well as cleansing. And in a way it is possible to furnish it with both at the same time.
MASSAGING THE FACE.
There has been a good deal of talk about facial massage in the past few years. At first it was more or less a fad, and the number of persons who took it up for revenue only did much harm to certain skins and brought the whole business into disrepute with many persons. But it has received more thought and study of late, and there are skilled specialists who understand the work and can do lasting benefit to the skins of those who submit to their ministrations. The great trouble is that nearly all these specialists charge so much for their treatment that only the well-to-do can afford to patronize them.
Fortunately, it is possible for women who will take the trouble, to give themselves home treatment, and if this is properly done it is most beneficial. The outfit required is small. The woman must get a good cold cream and a good skin food and use them correctly and conscientiously.
The first part of the process has already been outlined. The face must be washed carefully with soft cloth, warm water and a little good soap. All the time the face must be "dabbed" rather than rubbed, and wiped upward rather than downward. The latter motion is said to increase the tendency to drooping lines, and these must be counteracted by the facial treatment. When the cleansing cream is well worked in, it must be wiped off, as before directed. After that goes on the skin food.
CHOOSE RIGHT SKIN FOOD.
A word about such preparations. One cannot be too careful in their choice. It is not enough that the preparations are well advertised. Only those should be used of which the ingredients are known to the purchaser or that are put up by a trustworthy maker who knows his business. The foundation of many such creams and skin foods is either vaseline or lanolin. Both of these are likely to promote the growth of hair on the face. And when this is once started it is almost impossible to check it, except by a long course of depilatories, and sometimes not even then.

DIRECTIONS FOR MASSAGING.
The right skin food as hand, begin the massage. Again only the tips of the fingers are to be used in rubbing. The thumb and forefinger should be put on the face with the palms of the hands as well as with the fingers. Different movements are to be used for different parts of the face. For the forehead there should be round and round movement of the finger tips, always toward the center. Between the eyebrows the horizontal lines across the forehead, should be rubbed from the brows and nose upward, and with a circular movement as well. Around the eyes the finger tips should move out from the nose and then inward toward the eyes, while for the cheeks and the deep lines that show themselves there the three middle fingers of each hand should be used. The rubbing should begin close to the nose, and from here the fingers should be drawn back and upward, straight and flabbiness that is most unattractive. While lean or stout, every American woman has a tendency to acquire drooping depressed lines at the mouth corners. All these defects if should be a part of the work of the facial massage to remove.
TREATMENT OF CHIN AND MOUTH.
The woman who wishes to get rid of fat on her chin should use the thumb and first and second fingers in rubbing. She should draw the flesh upward from the throat toward the chin, and occasionally rub with the whole hand, always upward. She makes a wise purchase if she indulges in one of the rubber rollers that come for the purpose of rubbing the chin. Besides the rubbing she should tap the flesh with her fingers, as this has a tendency to harden it. It will be slow work getting rid of the fat on the chin. And it is hard work to tell which is the more tedious, this or putting flesh on the scrawny chin. A generous allowance of the skin food must be bestowed upon the stringy throat.
For the lines about the mouth an upward motion of the finger tips must also be employed, an upward and sideward movement. The removal of these lines will be quickened if their owner will try to drill her face into a cheerful expression when it is in repose. The woman who goes about her work with the corners of her mouth looking as though she had a leaden weight attached to them, dragging them down, will be slow to get rid of the drooping curve by any amount of massage.
THE FINISH.
The application of the cold cream should be continued for ten to fifteen minutes. After the process is over the face should be wiped with a piece of soft cloth to remove any skin food that has not been absorbed, and then washed with a cloth dipped in warm water and wringed out. The best time to give such a treatment is once more patting dry and the work is done. This is, unless the patient desires to apply a little powder. This should be a pure vegetable powder, rice or cornstarch.
The best time to give such a treatment as the above is at bedtime. In rare cases the specialists in this line give orders that the cold cream or skin food shall be left on overnight, but as a rule, it is wisest to remove it.
RESULTS COME SLOWLY.
No woman can hope to overcome the neglect of years and make a poor complexion into a good one by a few treatments. It requires a good deal of patient work to set things right. After a short treatment—perhaps even at the first—the masses will find her finger tips covered with what seems like bits of dried skin that work up under her rubbing. They are the contents of the clogged pores and the bits of withered cuticle that have been allowed to accumulate. For several treatments they will continue to come up, and then the starry skin will begin to absorb the nourishment that is given. Before long it will show the good result of the care bestowed upon it. But, as I have said, it will require time and conscientious work, and these must be supplemented by attention to diet and to general health and sanitation. One of the worst things for the complexion is to sleep in a badly-ventilated room. Fresh air and plenty of it must replace that thrown off by the lungs of the sufferer. If the impure poisoned air is retained, it shows its effect upon the body, as would any other poison. There are other things that are of value in the care of the complexion, as well as good complexion, although no minor item is so important as this. The woman with a clear, pure complexion must be recommended to use cold cream, bearing in mind that no matter how perfect these might be they would help her appearance little if her skin were thick, muddy and colorless.

ADDITIONAL HINTS.
Having brought it into fair condition she must keep it there. What is the use of having given time and trouble to win a good complexion if she will not put herself to the pains to retain it? She must not relax her care. In massage and cleansing. No liberties must be taken with the skin. Few things are worse for the complexion than to let dirt accumulate in the pores, and when the owner has been out in the windy, dusty weather, she must never make the mistake of putting cold water on the face as soon as she comes in. First, she must wipe it off with a little cold cream and then wash it with soft warm water. After washing it, she must not dry it, she must dab it with a towel, and prevent its becoming loose and flabby. The skin should not be submitted to massage just before going into cold air in winter. At any time a dozen drops of tincture of benzoin added to the water in which the face is washed will have a cleansing and tonic effect. Almond meal has already been spoken of as valuable in the bath. These and all similar preparations cannot be recommended unreservedly for everyone by even the most learned of specialists. The individual skin has its peculiarities as well as any other portion of the anatomy. Each woman must experiment until she has found what suits her particular case. With every new thing she should go slowly until she has proved its worth for herself. This malady, while common, is very difficult to cure. Sometimes the blackhead may be removed by covering it with the end of the barrel of a watch-key and pressing the offending particle out with this. The hole thus left in the skin should be put herself to watch carefully until healed, or the place will be as bad as it was at first. For a cure of blackheads steaming is rather good. A cloth wrung out in hot water should be laid on the trouble-

IS YOUR FACE CLEAN?

Essential as all this is, however,

there is more than this to be done by the woman who seeks to benefit her complexion. One of the chief is to get her face clean.

Probably ninety-nine women out of a hundred will arise in scorn at such a statement and go into detail as to the number of times a day they wash their faces. Each one knows she is clean, whatever the others may be.

These confident wipers may have a little surprise party along the lines of facial cleanliness if they will follow directions. Let the woman who has been pursuing the soap and water treatment buy a jar of good cold cream

and you may hope for improvement.
